Kohn & Aal yesterday sold to Philip H. Silverlight the house and lot at | the corner of Liberty and Lafayette streets. The property fronts 40 feet on Liberty and 100 feet on Lafayette street.

S. P. Thrasher, secretary of the Law and Order league, who has been ill for a week with diphtheretic sore throat, has sufficiently recovered to resume the duties of his office.

Bridgetender John Powers witnessed yesterday morning the furious strucgles of a big shovel nose shark which had become stranded on the mud flats opposite Belle dock. The monster became furious and thrashed about at a terrible rate for over an hour, when it finally reached deep water.

Architect Levi Hayne is preparing drawings for a handsome residence to be built for Robert A. France, general manager of the Joseph Parker & Sons Paper company. The house will be built at 12 Dwight street.

Rev. Mr. McNichol, the popular pastor of the Methodist church, Westville, and his estimable wife were given a surprise visit Thursday evening by a party of forty of the members of the pastor's church. The family was completely taken by surprise, as the couples filled their home and presented them with a 130-piece decorated dinner set and a silver soup ladle tastefully arranged on a large table with table cloths, napkins, etc., accompanying the Thomas Q. Seabrooke, who has been one of the most popular comic opera stars for several seasons past, appeared here last night in the line of "straight" comedy. He scored a great success. His personality is very droll and his absurdities last night kept the house in a state of continual merriment.

The story of the play is pretty much as follows: The principal character is a jolly old fellow with more appetite than sense. His worldy tastes keep his family circle in a steady stew of anxiety and himself in a tempest of lies. The real victim of the old rake is his son, a steady and moral young man, who is worn into age by ceaseless industry and self-denial. He persuades his father to go into a mining scheme in Arizona, and gives him the money for the purpose. Instead of carrying out the program, the old sinner goes to Paris and drinks deeply of Parisian gaieties until his funds exhaust, and a scandal with a French danseuse compels his return to America. A woolly western miner whose acquaintance was formed on the pirited condition, the backaches, the voyage homeward, figures a good deal in saving the old rascal and finally to insure victory woos and wins the housekeeper. A dashing widow converts and marries the "sporty" old chap, and in the development of this love interest are produced several of Mrs. Collman, writing October 30 the best scenes in the play. A colored from her home, 157 Scott street, Wilkes- baby, produced at an inopportune time,

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.

One of the largest audiences of the season was present last evening to witness the presentation of "The Cotton King." No pains have been spared to give it an effective setting. The scenery is elaborate and pleasing. There is a cast of actors well able to carry a good play and they make the most of this production.

The plot is built of material long in stock. Virtue suffers wildly improbable trials and villalny reposes in velvet until the end sets all things right. There is no strain upon the audience to catch the drift of the game at any stage.

"The Cotton King" uses modern appliances in the line of realism more effectively than was possible with its old time precursors. A cotton mill in operation, with a freight elevator on call, is a feature in this respect. This scene seems to be complete, and is a great piece of stage ingenuity.

The company is one of exceptional merit and includes James McBrophy, C. H. Brooke, Oscar Eagle, Esther Lyon, Lizzie Morgan, Clara Wisdom, Sophie Albert and Helen Douglass.

The piece will be repeated this afternoon and evening, and by the large sale of tickets a large audience is assured at both performances.

In the new farce comedy, "Plays and Players," which comes Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, there is just enough of nonsense to make It delightfully interesting. The little story told in the play is most entertaining, and the comedy sensations are all of the most amusing kind. There is all the latest music, both vocal and instrumental; all of the latest dances, pretty costumes and pretty girls. The Bulls Kept Their Opponents on Ex change on the cun-New York, Dec. 6 .- The bulls in the industrials had a field day at the stock exchange and they had their opponents on the run from start to finish of the ession. For weeks past it has been fashionable in speculative circles to go short of these specialties on prospects of congressional interference, threatened litigations and lawsuits actually be gun until nearly every active trader or the street had out a line of short con tracts. In the aggregate those contracts reached an enormous total and all that the bears needed to make their campalen a success was some unfavor able development to bring about demoralization in the bull ranks.

The refusal of congress to rush ahead with legislation against the trusts was a disappointment, but the first serious blow to the hopes of the shorts was given yesterday by Judge Showalter, who practically threw the Pitt-Barrows case out of court. Following the announcement of this decision there was a wild rush to cover and in their anxlety to get back their contracts brokers pid prices up on themselves. The stock opened at 67% and 69%, five thousand shares changing hands almost simultaeously with the dropping of the chair man's gavel. A further rise to 69% followed, after which some of the more prudent of the bulls sold a line of stock acquired during the recent decline from 0 down to 60%, and the price receded

Trading then dropped to normal proortions and the price hovered around 8@6814 until near the close, when it umped to 6914, at which the final transactions were effected.

Sugar was then taken in hand and marked up 1% to 10516. A decline to 104% followed, but fust at the close a big buying order was placed in the oom and the stock soared to 107%@%. Pobacco, after a decline to 76%, jumped to 79%. Leather, after an early period of weakness and a decline to 62%, rose to 6414.

Speculation in the railway list was checked at one time by the engagement of $2,600,000 gold for export to Europe to-morrow, but in the afternoon session a better demand prevailed and on covering of shorts an advance of 4614 per cent. took place, the improvement being well distributed. The closing was strong under the influence of the spurt in Sugar. Net changes show gains of 46% per cent. In the rallways and % @1% per cent. in the industrials. Bonds were irregular.
